The top selling BPA-free microwave cover from Monika's Marketplace recently reached a new review milestone since its launch on Amazon.com. The product has now been reviewed over 550 times and boasts an average rating of 4.3 out of 5 stars.

As of December 27, the product had a total of 557 reviews, with over 70 percent of reviewers giving it a full 5-star rating. It has received praise for a number of its features and benefits, including its ability to help prevent spills in the microwave and how it aids in the quick reheating of foods due to its intuitive design.

"It works perfectly & you avoid using any other type of cover--and if there is a mess, it all goes inside the lid. The lid goes in the dish washer. I really like this & would recommend it to everyone who has a microwave," said Sandee B in a verified Amazon review.

Other verified reviewers, including Susan Atkinson, raved about the fact that the microwave cover from Monika's Marketplace was BPA-free. "The best parts are that it saves paper towels from being wasted and it's BPA free! That harmful cancer causing chemicals won't be exposed to your food from this cover. Easy to wash also," she said.

Made from high quality, food-grade materials, the plastic microwave cover has been lab tested and certified as a suitable product for reheating food in the microwave. It features a high dome design to prevent food from coming into contact with it, and has a vented lid that helps to regulate steam release. Additionally, it is sized to comfortably fit most standard dinner plates and can also be used to keep food that has been reheated warm for a longer period of time.

Since being launched on Amazon, the vented microwave cover with lid from Monika's Marketplace has become a favorite for many shoppers. Its recent review milestone comes as the product moves up in the rankings for lids in the kitchen and dining category.
