January 13, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Graphics by Cindy, an SEO company in Houston, Texas, has recently received client reviews stating that the company provides positive results for website optimization. The company recently stated that with regards to their services for SEO Houston clients have been providing regular reviews praising the staff for their services, stating that their website visits have improved drastically since utilizing the company's services.

"We're always pleased to see positive reviews," states Cindy Pruitt, founder and owner of Graphics by Cindy. "Our goal is to help businesses improve their ranking in search engines and gain better results than they have experienced in the past."

Pruitt states that the company focuses on sending their clients leads that will ultimately convert to revenue. The company offers a total internet marketing consulting solution, guiding clients to have a more positive ROI. She says that companies that are not seeing good results with regards to searches for specific keyword phrases should seriously rethink their marketing efforts.

"You have to be visible in order to gain customers," Pruitt points out. "You could have the grandest website in the world but if it's not showing up on Google, on the first page that is, you aren't likely to gain much traffic. We take a customized approach for our Houston SEO services, ensuring that you get placement on page one of Google for your chosen keywords."

Pruitt says that any website that is not listed within the first page of Google and other search engines is likely to be missing a lot of business. She says that most consumers stop reading after about the second page of search engine results and her company's goal is to get their customers listed on page one. The company uses the same methods for key terms that are proven and effective at increasing page ranking positions in search engines, ensuring complete customer satisfaction, which Pruitt says is why they are receiving such high marks from their own customers.

Graphics by Cindy has been providing website services to clients since 2004, with a strong focus on SEO. The company also provides website design and development as well as various other services to help businesses get noticed online.
