

Anik Singal Introduces Online Course For Digital Publishers

May 19, 2017

May 19, 2017 -
Anik Singal, founder and CEO of Lurn, recently announced a new online course that can help those who are aspiring to be digital publishers. The course is scheduled to last for 10 days and there is no charge for those who are interested in taking it.

"My new course is called The Circle Of Profit," states Singal. "It will show you how I turned my passion into a very profitable business and by using nothing but a laptop. I feel that this will be an invaluable course for those who are a bit on the fence about undergoing a change in how they earn a living."

Information about the new course can be seen at Lurn.com. Singal says that it falls in line with a number of other courses that he has created, all of which are designed to help those considering a career in digital publishing.

"If you want to make a change, and you feel that digital publishing is the way to go," Singal says, "then this course is absolutely a must. You will learn everything you need to know about breaking into the industry and setting yourself up for profits in just a few days."

Anik Singal is widely considered as one of the most successful digital publishing marketers in the industry. He has consulted with and guided a number of marketers with product launches, building funnels, and search engine optimization. His digital publishing business generates more than $20 million per year in sales and between his own products and those of his clients, he has contributed more than $100 million in online publishing sales since he began.

"It's not rocket science," Singal states. "It's a system that you can easily learn and one that you can easily put into motion, virtually guaranteeing your success in the future. I want to help you to turn your life around and show you just how easy this industry can be to break into."

Singal spends his time teaching people how to create online businesses in niches that they are passionate about. He states that having passion for what one is doing will ultimately lead to success.
