The professionals review the problems of each patient before identifying the options available for correcting the issues.

For most people, the idea of orthodontics is linked to braces. There are many types of braces from which to choose. The choice for a specific patient will depend upon a variety of factors. The cost of the materials and procedures is a key factor for most people. The cost of orthodontics is affected by the material used in the appliances, as well as the length of time that is required for treatment.

Appearance of the appliance is another factor to be considered. The traditional metal braces have been described as wearing train tracks on the teeth. Ceramic braces are designed to resemble the colour of the natural teeth. Invisible braces (Invisalign) are also hard to see when in the mouth. They are constructed of clear material and are particularly suitable for adults who are trying to improve the alignment of the teeth.

A spokesperson for the practice explained, ?Damon braces are a modern orthodontic appliance used to straighten teeth. They consist of high technology metal or ceramic brackets and an arch wire, similar to conventional braces, but lighter. The Damon brace system uses state-of-the-art low-friction technology to allow movement of teeth quickly but gently, allowing you to achieve your perfect smile painlessly. The appliances blend with the shade of the teeth, which makes it less obvious. Damon appliances are comfortable in spite of the strength necessary to move misplaced teeth.?
