

FootcareFacts Releases Report on the Best PF Shoes

January 21, 2017

January 21, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Footcarefacts.com has released a report detailing the best sports shoes for athletes with Plantar Fasciitis. The website had earlier announced about their research for people with PF before making it public yesterday.

"We are glad to announce that there are new PF sports shoes launch in 2017. We sampled a few of the best rated in online retailers and assessed them ourselves. We will compile the study report and every sports lover with PF or flat feet can smile as there is an affordable shoe designed for their needs," Simon Johnson, the website founder said.

Footcarefacts.com has been in the business of helping people deal with their foot care problems for long, but it now also advising people on the shoes and products to use cure their feet injuries. The website mainly advises on how to deal with foot odor, toe fungus, heel spurs and Plantar Fasciitis. With their latest PF report however, the company's spokesperson stated that they plan to do additional reviews about the best shoes for the different shoe problems people face today.

"We plan to add more reviews about spurs shoes; shoes that reduce foot odors and shoes that enhance jogging. At the moment however, we recommended the plantar fasciitis shoes on our website because they also help people with other foot running problems. And the good thing is that our report is long and does include shoes that fit different occasions,? Simon Johnson said.

According to a statement from Footfacts.com, most people suffer with Planter Fasciitis even if they don?t know about the disease. Plantar Fasciitis is however painful. It is characterized by injuries on the heels, usually as a result of wearing unfitting or poorly constructed shoes. Foot care facts recognized the dangers that come with this disease in their PF shoes review, but encouraged victims that using the best rated and approved PF shoes could help them enjoy their sports activities again.

?We deeply understand the pain people with PF experience. We know it is not easy to run, work properly or enjoy a party when your feet are reeling with pain. Fortunately, PF is a disease you can manage if you consistently wear the recommended shoes. Actually, you could even heal the disease without applying any treatments, as long as you remain loyal to PR shoes,? Mr. Johnson added.

Asked how they came up with a list of the best shoes for plantar fasciitis, the company?s founder said that all shoes published in their report were reviewed by hundreds of people with the disease. He further noted that the website only picked the top ten best rated PF shoes in online retailers. In addition, the website gave tips to help people know how to spot other best PF shoes not included in Footcarefacts.com. More details about the PF shoes and other special shoes for people with injured feet can be found on their website.
