Technotup, a website dedicated to android applications has yet again announced that it will be soon launching an exciting feature on its website especially for people who prefer using whatsapp on their pc. In the recent years, there has been an increase in the number of people using whatsapp either on their desktop computers or laptops. This is one of the reasons why several companies have been up and down trying to get the best experience for their customers.

“We want to ensure that every person who desires to use whatsapp on their computer whether at home or at work does it with absolute ease,” said Allison one of the co-founders of technotup website. In the past few years it was a little bit difficult to use android applications such as whatsapp besides mobile devices. However, the emergence of great applications such as BlueStacks and Andy have made it possible for users to enjoy whatsapp not only in their mobile phones, but also from their computers wherever they are.

Speaking at a recent consultative forum which brought together tech entrepreneurs from different parts of the country, Bob Greg one of the website’s administrators asserted that they were in the last stages of developing a new application that would revolutionize their customers experience when it comes to using whatsapp on pc. “We want to make sure that everyone who visits our website to look for android applications is not disappointed,” said Greg who sounded confident about the upcoming launch of the new application.

Technotup has in the past few months attracted a lot of visitors to its site due to the amazing android applications and games they put there for free download. There have been positive comments and reviews from those who have tried their apps hence explaining the traffic in the website. For instance one customer wrote, “you are doing an amazing job guys, keep up the good work.”

In addition to the new android feature set to be introduced, the website’s founder, Alice May hinted that plans were also underway to introduce more interesting android games where people visiting the website will be free to download and refer to their friends. She also insisted that there will be no fee charged for downloading any game unless the website decides otherwise. This is definitely good news for game addicts out there.

Technotup Founder also reiterated that the main purpose of their website is to ensure that android applications are easily downloadable on every PC for those who would like to use them. ?We want to tell everyone who is looking for android applications for PC, that we are here for them,? said Mr. Cooper.

Besides the android applications, the website also offers step by step guidelines on how to download and install them onto one's pc. They also have a 24/7 customer support service that is dedicated to assisting all their clients around the globe. Most people are now watching this space to see which android application will be launched.
