Roy Wingate Business Consultants is an Cleburne, Texas based company that provides a wide range of business services for online and offline companies. Roy Wingate, owner and operator of the company, recently announced that they have launched a new website for a company that designs and installs inground swimming pools for residential customers in Grand Prairie, Texas.

Wingate states that the new website offers service and pricing information for those considering adding an inground swimming pool to their property. The site, which can be seen at <https://bestingroundpoolcostgrandprairie.com/best-small-swimming-pools-grand-prairie>, is designed to give consumers the information they need to make an informed decision when having their swimming pools installed.

"The company offers design and installation for inground swimming pools," Wingate states. "We've designed their website to work with their business, offering information as well as images of what consumers can expect when they work with this company."

Wingate states that in addition to the content and images on the site, his company provided search engine optimization for the swimming pool business to ensure that the new site can be seen online by those looking for an inground pool in the Grand Prairie area.

"Search engine optimization is not something that you can do without," Wingate states. "You may have a beautiful website, offering the most gorgeous images of what you do and the most thought-out and informative content but if you are not optimizing that site to land on Google's first few pages, not many people are going to see it."

Wingate says that his company's goal is to design websites that visitors want to stay on longer than just a few minutes. He states that the longer consumers remain on a site, the more likely they are to utilize the services or products from that company. His company provides search engine optimization services that are designed to get customers to websites so that the site may be able to explain to them the value of the product or service being provided.
