With over 30 years of experience and excellence Roncor has established themselves as a professional and successful home remodeling and restoration contractor. Believing that the main reason why people remodel or rebuild their homes is not for resale value, Roncor believes their customers seek remodeling for their own enjoyment.

Roncor's designers work with customers to fit their budget and create the best projects possible, big or small, offering several different levels of design for new customers. Even if you already have a contractor, Roncor can walk you through the design process and produce construction documents for your current contractor to use. For every design, Roncor maps out the project as though they will be building it to fruition.

Roncor is a member of MN Green Star, The Builders Association of the Twin Cities, The National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI,) The National Kitchen and Bath Association and The Better Business Bureau

"We believe the main reason people remodel their homes is because of an, "emotional return on investment." Customers continuously tell us how much value there is in freshening up a kitchen or repurposing a basement. We know you consider ways to revitalize your home, inside and out. It's our mission to ensure you are comfortable staying in your home for a long time to come," says Ron Baker of Roncor.
