Miracle Shelves, a relatively new company based in Orlando, Florida, has recently announced the launch of their do-it-yourself miracle shelving kits. The company states that they offer pull out shelving that are designed for the DIYer. The shelves allow handymen and handywomen to retrofit the sliding shelves into any cupboard, closet, or pantry.

RJ Shaw, co-owner of the company, states, "Our pull out shelves are constructed from Baltic birch with a baked on lacquer protective finish. They are high quality shelves that are easy for just about anyone to install, which saves you time and money."

Shaw points out that the shelves can easily be ordered online and then installed with ease by the homeowner when they arrive. He adds that the company's do-it-yourself shelving kits come with steel rails that make bottom mounting on existing cabinets easy and the rails are capable of supporting up to 100 pounds of weight.

"The kits are designed to help you maximize the space that you have available," says Shaw. "And we offer an all-inclusive price, which means that you won't see any surprise charges. What you see is what you pay."

Shaw explains that every order comes with miracle shelves instructions for properly installing the shelving units. He states that those who are avid do-it-yourselfers will find the shelves quite easy to install and even those who only play handyman once a month or so can implement them without much problem.

The miracle shelves feature a melamine bottom that makes them easy to keep clean and the company states that all needed materials are included. Shaw points out that the company assembles pull out shelves on demand to ensure the highest possible quality and their standard service ensures that most shelving units arrive at the customer's address within two to three weeks.

Shaw says that aside from the DIY miracle shelves being easy to install, the company offers a return policy to ensure complete customer satisfaction. He says that every kit is inspected and guaranteed to be free of defects. Those interested in learning more about the do it yourself shelf kits offered can visit the company on their official website.
