A new video about how to make money online has been created and published by Gordon Bellows, owner of Provista Web Services. Gordon is solely responsible for the content of the video. The video features 5 tips for success that come from Gordon's experience as an independent affiliate in various income opportunities.

Although the tips are plain and simple, they describe the basics that are crucial to success. The video can be seen at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Oq8JdHbzEIs&feature=youtu.be>.

Many people want to make money online, whether it is an extra $500 per month or an amount that enables a person to make a full-time living from it. People that have made money online know all too well how much of a struggle it can be. The video has tips and information that can make getting to a desired level of income less of a struggle.

One of the 5 tips is all about the importance of belief and self-confidence. A person can accomplish almost anything they want when there is self-confidence and a positive attitude applied to the task. Also, it is important for the level of self-confidence to be stronger than the person's doubts and fears.

Another tip emphasizes that a person should never give up. Making money online is great, but it can sometimes be a slow process to reach the first significant milestone. After that, things often fall into place at a much quicker rate. However, too many people become inactive or they just walk away altogether before reaching that first big milestone.

Another important factor for success that the video outlines is motivation. A person has a better chance to reach a desired level of success when there is a strong motivation that keeps the person striving to reach a goal. That motivation is sometimes called a person's "why" and it is the reason for wanting to make money online. The "why" might be because of a desire for a better lifestyle or wanting to pay for a college education for children or grandchildren. Another popular reason for wanting more money is a secure financial arrangement for the golden retirement years.

In addition to the video at <https://youtu.be/Oq8JdHbzEIs> that reveals how to make money online, Gordon has created other videos and websites with tips and information on a wide variety of popular topics.
