The launch of We Want Sacramento has been announced for area businesses and organizations. The website is designed to promote local events, both free and paid.

Sacramento CA: We Want Sacramento and Jason Smith are pleased to announce the launch of their new directory and website. The website is a local directory and event promotion site for individuals, businesses and organization in the Sacramento, California area. The organizers of the site also promotes local businesses, and both free and paid events. A calendar of upcoming events is a small part of the information available on the website. Articles about the many offerings for places and activities lead to a comprehensive site.

There is an amazing number of things to do in Sacramento and the new website points out many of them. Viewers can read a concise history of the area around Sacramento. As capital of California, the city has a long and rich history. Two rivers form the base of the city, the Sacramento and the American. The city is one of the biggest cities in the United States.

The city is noted for its many theater offerings. There are both professional and amateur performers in performances throughout most of the year. One of the largest collections of neighborhood theaters in the State is found in the Sacramento area. Information about the performances can be seen on the website. The site also provides information about fine arts shows, galleries and dance events.

Musicians can take part in activities associated with music. The musical performances range from opera to rock stars to local clubs and smaller venues. A growing variety of rock, hardcore and metal bands come from the Sacramento area. In another genre, Sacramento is the home of the Sacramento French Film Festival. Restaurants featuring cuisine from around the world, as well as locally grown products are a high point for visitors to the area.

Sports teams and recreational activities include basketball, baseball, soccer and rugby. The extensive park system in the city includes thousands of acres of parkland, plus multiple recreation centers.
