June 09, 2015 -

New Ventures Lab, a business operating from Meridian, ID is hosting a speed mentoring event on June 30th. They are very proud of the fact that Michael Taggart, SEO Expert, will be speaking on this day. The event, "Women's Business Center of Idaho", will attract a very wide audience of people who will be able to move their vision forward thanks to Taggart's expertise.

"We expect our speed mentoring event will be very well attended, particularly now that Michael Taggart has been announced as a speaker", says Rick Ritter from New Ventures Lab. "We believe in bringing people together to help them to turn their ideas into business through imagination, innovation, creativity and entrepreneurship. Taggart's expertise fits in brilliantly with that vision and we are so happy to have him."

The Speed Mentoring event, which will be held on June 30th from 5.30pm to 7pm Mountain Time, in Meridian Idaho, is an opportunity for guests to meet face to face in short 20 minutes segments. They will be able to speak with true experts in the field of business law, marketing, CPA finance, business research and real estate.

Micheal Taggart is known as the mastermind of SEO. He has consistently been able to help startup businesses earn as much as a 7 figure income in just one year. His focus is on diversifying income streams and ensuring the time and resources of the businesses and individual entrepreneurs he works with is spent in such a way that it maximizes profits and ensures traffic is converted into income. His skills and knowledge are respected the world over.

Taggart himself started his own website in 1999 and he has since moved from great to great. He has now founded a range of different companies and remains the CEO of a number of them. One of the companies he has founded in particular is Adventure Marketing, which focuses on offering group coaching webinars in particular, which fits in very well with the aims and goals of the Women's Business Center of Idaho event.

"We have taken the concept of speed dating, which is becoming increasingly popular, and turned it into a business networking opportunity", adds Rick Ritter. "Essentially, what we have already learned from Taggart is that it is all about thinking outside of the box. Hence, we want to use the proven fun concept of speed dating, but apply it to the more serious side of business and industry expertise. This event will be a truly unique opportunity to learn from the greatest in the business."

Michael Taggart is a true SEO expert. Indeed, he has even been able to rank on the first page of local Google searches in just two hours, something that takes tremendous skill and knowledge. To achieve this, he describes both tried and tested SEO methods, as well as out of the box solutions that have a huge impact on ranking efforts.
