A440 Pianos has offered premium new pianos and vintage used pianos for more than a decade. The quality pianos and services are provided to clients on three continents.

Lilburn GA: A440 Pianos and Pascal Vieillard are pleased to announce they are leading providers of new and vintage pianos, with more than a decade of service to clients throughout the world. The business has warehouses on three continents. Their presence is noted in Lima, Prague, Atlanta and Paris. The services offered by the firm include restorations, tuning, repair, and moving. They specialize in locating, reconditioning, and selling the finest new and used pianos at affordable prices.

The company has a large inventory of both traditional and digital grand pianos for sale, offering each client the opportunity to find a piano of their dreams at an affordable price. A baby grand piano makes a statement of beauty and appreciation of the arts for the customer. Whether the piano is new or used, it is important to buy from a trusted dealer who has the knowledge and equipment to ensure it is in the best possible condition.

According to Pascal Vieillard, "Used grand pianos are large musical instruments and complex mechanical devices that will vary greatly in quality between manufacturers. Thousands of moving parts in pianos work in unison to perform a specific function. The overall design, the nature of components and the manufacturing process separates luxury pianos from entry-level pianos. Though both will allow you to play music, it won't sound as good as music from a luxury counterpart."

Used grand pianos are hand built pieces of art with years of dedication and craftsmanship. They require periodic tuning, incorporating three steps to maintain the optimum feel and sound of the piano. The maintenance includes voicing, regulation, and tuning.

For customers across the country who need to move their piano, the firm offers the best quality moving services. The professional team has the right equipment and experience to complete each move efficiently and safely.
