Debby McKinney Now Proudly Offering BioTek Labs

February 14, 2017

February 14, 2017 -
Debby McKinney, of Niceville, Florida, has announced her relationship with BioTek Labs. BioTek Labs is a national medical ancillary services provider that is dedicated to building long lasting relationships with medical practice groups that help them to improve the quality of life for their patients by eliminating contact allergies. McKinney will cover as an independent Tallahassee to Pensacola in the Northwest Florida or Panhandle region.

"BioTek is a worldwide leader in specialty medical testing, offering managed, turnkey allergy testing labs and customized immunotherapy protocols," says McKinney.

BioTek Laboratories, Inc. is a CLIA (Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments) accredited organization and testing facility that offers immunology and chemistry profiles to clinicians around the globe. The organization has more than 30 years of experience in their industry with a team of experienced technicians and scientists that use the latest in research and technology to provide adequate testing.

"I am proud to be a part of BioTek," says McKinney. "They truly are a revolutionary team that delivers consistent and reliable test results for clinicians in a number of areas."

McKinney says that busy pediatric groups including rural practices can greatly benefit from the program and urges those interested to contact her to learn more about what she and BioTek can provide. BioTek has a proactive customer service team that offers immediate attention to clients' requirements and concerns. McKinney states that the customer service team works to ensure that all questions are answered in a timely fashion, and states that the lab offers innovative immunoassays to metabolic and pollutants profiles. The organization offers antibody assessment specialty immunology as well as specialty chemistry, preparation and collection of samples, and various other services to clients around the world.

The company states that they strive to provide clients with cutting edge laboratory medicine with a goal of offering reliable service through state of the art technology and research. BioTek places priority on participation with community and worldwide hospital and university based research teams, as well as clinicians. Those interested in learning more about the organization or McKinney's involvement with them can visit them online.
