June 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

BeVisible Sports, a business operating from San Francisco, CA, has launched their brand new BeVisible Sports Foot Compression Sleeves on Amazon. The product is designed specifically for people who have Plantar Fasciitis, a foot condition that leads to pain in the heel or foot. As a new release product, it is currently available with a special offer. It is believed the foot compression sleeve will fly off the shelves.

"We are committed to creating quality products for people who have genuine physical needs", says Sandy B from BeVisible Sports. "Our new BeVisible Sports foot compression sleeve is no different. It is made from the highest grade, premium material and it has been designed to ensure people with Plantar Fasciitis are able to find relief from their foot and heel pain."

To ensure people are able to try the product and find out its benefits for themselves, BeVisible Sports has currently released it at a 50% discount. This will enable people to find out how beneficial the graduated compression that the sleeves offer. This compression helps to improve blood circulation in the feet, which in turn helps to reduce swelling, discomfort and pain. Additionally, it helps tired feet to recover more quickly.

The sleeves are perfect for everyday use. Hence, people who spend most of their time on their feet, or who work out a lot, will find that the sleeves give them great benefits, enabling them to get more out of their workout. BeVisible Sports understands that so many people feel debilitated by their painful feet and that there are very few solutions out there to resolve this. Most will resort to just working their way through it, taping the foot up or requesting injections from their physician. Neither of these solutions is beneficial and the new sleeves hope to address this. The initial reaction the product has been very excellent and demonstrates that the company is reaching its goals.

"I find the sleeves not only very comfortable and supportive of my feet when jogging, but very attractive looking", says Kenny, a shopper on Amazon. "I wish I had a whole weeks supply of them, as they get sweaty from my workouts, so I need to have at least 7 pairs."

The sleeves are suitable for men, women and youths alike. It is effectively a brace that provides support to both the heel and the arch of the foot. It is available in two sizes (small/medium and large) and currently only comes in black. They slip on just as regular socks and don't require any special care and attention. As such, they can simply replace day to day socks, while at the same time providing health benefits.

To ensure people learn about all their products and have the opportunity to enjoy this product at an extremely reduced price, it is currently available on a limited promotion. By entering coupon code FS2FOR39 at checkout, they will be able to receive two pairs of the foot sleeves for just $39, which is a 69% off the full retail price.
