

Pepbaby Launches New Child Safety Locks

February 13, 2017

February 13, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Pepbaby, a company that focuses on child safety products and is based in North America, is proud to announce the launch and introduction of the Pepbaby child safety locks. Their pack of eight adjustable locks is now available exclusively on Amazon. Uniquely, these locks are adjustable and can be used on a variety of places and appliances. These include the oven, fridge, drawers, cabinets, and more. The product is already proving to be very popular.

Tony Araujo from Pepbaby says: "We are very excited to have launched our new child safety locks. These are the types of things that people often forget about, and this can be incredibly dangerous. It is all too easy for children to get their fingers stuck in a door or drawer, or to open certain appliances like the oven, with even more terrible consequences. Thanks to our pack of eight, customers are able to avoid such dangerous situations straight away."

The adjustable cabinet locks have been designed to be easy for adults to use, while being too complex for little children. The company is committed to providing customers with the peace of mind that their children are safe, and their locks can be used on any type of cabinet, door, or drawer. In so doing, they help to prevent children from having their fingers trapped and from reaching potentially dangerous materials.

The ease of use and enhanced safety features of these straps have already been greatly appreciated by customers. "Helps to protect your little ones from accessing unwanted things which are dangerous to them. Another great feature is that they are very easy to attach and even easier to remove if needed," says Ravi, an Amazon customer.

The straps can be very easily installed and do not require any specialized tools. They have been designed to be slim and stylish and come in a soft white color, which means they don't stand out either. Pepbaby takes such pride in its product that the company offers a lifetime satisfaction guarantee, as with other Pepbaby products, which are all available on Amazon and have received a wealth of positive reviews.

###

For more information about Pepbaby, contact the company here: PepbabyTonyAraujo416-738-3834support@pepbaby.com 200 Cresthaven Road, Brampton, Ontario L7A 1J5 Canada

Pepbaby

Pepbaby is a young, innovative, customer-focused baby products developer that takes pride in providing high-quality and child safety products geared to giving parents 'piece of mind'.

Website: <http://www.pepbaby.com>

Email: support@pepbaby.com

Phone: 416-738-3834

Powered by PressAdvantage.com