Yamane Marketing Group, an online marketing and SEO agency in Honolulu, HI, has announced that they now offer a new marketing service to local businesses. Specifically, this is a press release service, designed to provide the business with immediate online exposure. More details about the new service can be found at http://YamaneMarketingGroup.com.

Dan Yamane, owner and founder of the Yamane Marketing Group, says: "We combine digital craftsmanship with innovative thinking and deliver digital solutions on a worldwide scale. We've been crafting beautiful websites, launching stunning brands and making clients happy for years. We help you with your online presence so that you can concentrate on your core business. With our new press release service, we give our clients immediate and widespread exposure."

Press releases are strong tools when it comes to online marketing. Firstly, they enable businesses to get their name out in the media, potentially being snapped up by a huge outlet. Additionally, they give them the opportunity to place an "As Seen On" badge on their website, which builds trust among their customers. Furthermore, Google and the other search engines love press releases, and are therefore very important tools in terms of optimization.

Uniquely, the Yamane Marketing Group has a specific focus on local businesses. Local search engine optimization is one of the strongest optimization tools in existence, because the search engines are specifically looking for local businesses. While local SEO is not something new, it is significantly lacking in Honolulu and the islands. As such, the company is offering a service for which there is a huge demand.

Daniel Yamane himself likes to take a personal approach with all his clients. This is why he has asked people across the islands to add him on Facebook at https://facebook.com/dan.yamane in order to connect with him. He is committed to raising the profile of local businesses and helping the economy of Hawaii as a whole. Through the new press release service, he is offering people with businesses the opportunity to gain exposure, build stronger, more powerful websites, and, ultimately, grow their business by expanding their customer databases.
