

UB Super Announces A New Generation Of Superfood Vegan Meal Replacement Shakes

June 10, 2015

June 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Scott Kanyok, founder of UB Real, LLC, has announced that they have launched their line of UB Super Vegan Meal Replacement Shakes. He added that these replacement shakes are all-natural, non-dairy, non-gmo, soy and gluten-free. In addition, their UB Super meal replacement shakes include prebiotics, probiotics, fulvic minerals, vitamins and antioxidants.

The goal of the company is to provide their customers with real, high quality whole food nutrients that actually help the body to perform at its optimum levels, just the way that nature intended. By accomplishing this goal, they feel that customers will see them as the trusted brand of protein superfood to help all types of people. For example, their UB Super Vegan Meal Replacement Shakes are designed to be perfect for active people and the whole family. They made the following statement:

"Our philosophy is grounded in the value of "better for people and better for the planet." Our Good Loop Promise starts with harvesting the highest quality sources of ingredients that are eco-friendly, sustainable, and bioavailable while honoring the environment with recyclability, less deforestation and greater economic benefit for the indigenous people. We finish our promise by delivering to you a non-gmo, gluten free superfood and eco-care products that will enhance your life with peace of mind and numerous healthy benefits."

Scott says that the human body needs whole, real foods that are a bioavailable. In today's fast-paced life, people are consuming processed foods instead. Because of this, there is a high rate of weight gain and obesity, which in turn also leads to many of the serious chronic health conditions that burden individuals, families and society. He added that a large number of people are actually looking to change their diet, for the better. He feels that the solution to this problem is a healthy protein meal replacement shake that has actually been formulated for health and weight loss. The reason behind this theory is because these meal replacement shakes can replace processed fast foods as a way of keeping up with the population's fast paced lives, yet still provide them with the right nutrients in order to maintain a healthy body while keeping that weight off.

The company made the following mission statement:

"UB Real aims to be the leading trusted brand of protein superfood and supercare products designed for real life to help improve and protect human health and the environment."

UB Real, LLC was founded in 2012, and is the brainchild of Scott Kanyok. The company offers a range of UB Super meal replacement shakes, which are Vegan Vanilla, Vegan Chocolate, Whey Vanilla and Whey Chocolate. All of their meal replacement shakes contain nutritious super foods, and their ingredients are entirely made up from hold food sources. They have stated that none of their products have been synthesized in the lab, and they feel that this approach will provide their customers with real foods that are bioavailable.
