Avarua Rarotonga, CI: Ora Fiduciary (Cook Islands) Limited and Byron Brown are pleased to announce that their ten year anniversary will be celebrated on February 22, 2017. The major elements of business include Fiduciary Services and Investment Services. There are several unique features which are available in Cook Islands investment trusts. The website identifies some of the features which make an investment in the Cook Islands an attractive financial decision and location for offshore capital.

An asset protection trust is an ideal vehicle with which to preserve and protect assets against risks arising from ownership of such assets. Trusts are an ideal vehicle with which to preserve and protect assets against risks arising from the ownership of those assets. There are significant advantages to investing through or holding assets in a protection trust for assets. The right vehicle for an investor is an important step. A Cook Islands International Trust protects assets from frivolous lawsuits, as well as personal security and privacy.

The effective trust structure available in the Cook Islands permits a wide range of financial planning objectives, including estate duty and tax minimization, preservation of wealth and flexibility and confidentiality. The Cook Islands is highly regarded for its Asset Protection Trust Legislation, which has served as a model for other offshore locations. The islands have a strong judicial precedent which supports asset protection legislation.

The Cook Islands are located in the South Pacific Ocean southwest of Tahiti and south of Hawaii. Its location allows it to have strategic advantage in dealing with both the Asian and US markets. It has a highly developed business infrastructure, a well-educated English speaking labor force, sophisticated telecommunication links and convenient air services. These features and the legal positioning encourage investors and those looking for safe and functional asset trusts can benefit from the infrastructure and legal status of the location.
