Bariatric Mexico Surgery, based in Tijuana, Mexico, recently published a post regarding the benefits of having bariatric surgery. The company states that many people who are considering this type of surgery are unaware of the actual medical benefits that it can provide.

Alma Orozco with Bariatric Mexico Surgery says, "Many people have heard of bariatric surgery and may think that they know all about it but the reality is that most have no idea how beneficial this type of surgery can be for those who are overweight."

Orozco explains that obesity is a serious issue in the United States and is becoming an issue in other countries as well. Bariatric surgery is designed to help those who are severely overweight. It may be the only way by which these people would be able to get back to a healthy weight. Many who are obese attempt fad diets and other unsuccessful methods of losing weight, only to gain it back or not lose any at all. Orozco says that bariatric surgery can end the diet fad cycle and show significant results for those who opt for the surgery.

"The National Institutes of Health reported over 10 years ago that those affected by severe obesity are often resistant to maintaining weight loss from conventional methods," Orozco states. "Dieting, watching calories, increasing exercise and even commercial weight loss methods can be effective, but for many, it is near impossible to maintain the weight lost through these methods."

Orozco says that those who undergo bariatric surgery stand a much more successful chance of having a healthy weight and maintain it long term. The surgery is combined with a treatment plan that helps the patient to maintain a healthier weight and can often improve or even alleviate many issues that are associated with obesity such as type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, and other health issues.

Bariatric Mexico Surgery offers information for those looking into bariatric surgery as a means of losing and keeping off unhealthy weight.
