InternationalMovingCompanies.com is proud to announce the launch of their brand new website. The company, which focuses specifically on international relocation, has been in operation for several years, and they felt an overhaul of their website, which was starting to look dated, was necessary. The new site includes all the details about the company, and enables people to request a free quotation as well.

Richard Sullivan from International Moving Companies says: "We are so happy with our new website. You can now contact us for a free quote by visiting our website or Facebook page. The site looks clean and is really user friendly, and we can't thank the design team enough. We're also happy to report that it has already attracted lots of visitors."

The company prides itself in offering a full service to people who want to move overseas. They understand the stress and hassle that are involved with moving home, which is magnified by going to a different country. They are very respectful of people's emotions, and understand that moving home is one of the most stressful things that someone can go through. Their goal is to make everything as easy as possible. "We offer international moving services, but we try to give it a really personal touch," adds Richard Sullivan. "We understand that what we are moving is more than just material possessions, it is someone's life. This is why we put a whole lot of care and attention into everything that we do."

International Moving Companies also suggests that one check customs regulations when relocating overseas. This is an important issue with overseas moves, as some countries will need to see a bill of sale for those who bring furniture and other belongings into the country, particularly through shipping containers. Sullivan explains: "Customs regulations are highly complex, and it is all too easy for something to go wrong. This is why we take that hassle out of our customers' hands as well, and make sure they meet all the necessary rules and regulations and are fully compliant. It's just an extra special touch to make everything stress-free."
