

Heating And Air Condition Service Provider In Greenville SC Announces Growth

March 06, 2017

March 06, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

One Hour Heating & Air Conditioning in Greenville, South Carolina, recently announced that they have moved into a larger building due to business growth. The company states that over the past few years, their business has grown to the point that the building they were using had simply become too small to accommodate their growing team.

The company has been in business in Greenville since 2003. It is locally owned and operated and has a staff of professional technicians that provide residential HVAC services throughout the Upstate South Carolina region.

A spokesperson for the company says, "We are excited that our business has grown to the point of needing a larger facility. We work with residents throughout Upstate South Carolina and invite you to contact us with all of your heating and air conditioning needs."

Owned by Clockwork Home Services Inc. in Sarasota, Florida, which has been in operation since 1998, One Hour Heating and Air Conditioning offers a two-hour appointment window that they state is designed to better fit the schedules of their customers. The company states that their appointment window allows them to schedule around customer needs and offers completely free service if their technicians arrive even one minute past the appointment time.

They offer warranties and guarantees that put them ahead of their competitors, an aspect that has helped them to grow over the years. In addition, the company states that every technician who works for them is friendly, polite, and regularly drug tested to ensure customer safety and proper installation. They provide state of the art products and techniques, which helps them to ensure complete customer satisfaction.

"Customer satisfaction has always been our number one goal," says the company spokesperson. "We do everything in our power to ensure that you are more than satisfied with the work that we perform and will always go above and beyond to provide you with quality products and services. Like us on Facebook to see what our local customers have to say about our services."

Those interested in learning more about the company or their new facility can visit them on their official website or contact them directly.
