

New Home Builders In Perth Win Four Awards

March 16, 2017

March 16, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wildec.com Homes, a new home construction company in Mandurah, WA, Australia, is proud to announce that they have won four different awards. The awards are 'Display Home of the Year under $300,000', 'Display Home of the Year over $300,000', 'Display Home of the Year', and 'Display Home of the Year (Regional)'. These are all prestigious awards that serve as a testament to the quality of the company's performance.

Julie Rosenberg from Wildec.com Homes says: "We were hopeful that we would win one of the four awards that we were considered for. To win all four of them was actually more than what we could have hoped for. We want to thank everybody for their continued trust and support in our work, and we will continue to work very hard to ensure that we really deserve these awards."

Wildec.com Homes, with website at <http://www.wildec.comhomes.com.au>, is known for its clear vision of wanting to leave a legacy of beautifully designed homes that bring inspiration, freedom, and joy to the lives of families across Australia. Their mission is to ensure that the entire process is very simple. The company values integrity more than anything, and they place the customer in center of everything that they do. They understand that as much as the company is the expert on construction, the customers are the experts on what they actually want. This value is reflected in the trust, accountability, and transparency that the company offers in all that they do.

The mission, vision, and values of the company are being hailed by many customer reviews, including one by Julianne L. on Facebook: "The team at Wildecom Homes are such true professionals and have so much experience to draw on. They deliberately set themselves apart from the rest by choosing to offer a higher quality build, and a more personal experience. Very highly recommended."

The company has also launched its YouTube channel to provide video information about the work that they do, and what customers can expect when they work with Wildecom Homes. People are encouraged view the videos to learn more about the company, its projects, and its awards.
