March 13, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mike Marko with IM Consultant Services in Cincinnati, Ohio, recently announced the release of a new home business opportunity review. Marko has posted a review of Team Beachbody, which can now be accessed on his official website.

Marko explains in the review that the company focuses on the health and fitness industry. Established in 2007, the company offers a variety of products and what they refer to as coaches who sell those products.

"Many people over the years have claimed that Team Beachbody is not legit," says Marko. "It is actually a legitimate business and one that many people are making good money with."

Marko states that the company is completely legitimate and says that it is a good opportunity to join at the present time. He states that the company assists marketers in reaching their success goals. In his Team Beachbody review, he indicates that the company has been successful due to many people looking for a solid way of getting and staying fit. The program consists of proven home workout programs as well as nutritional guidance and meal plans and for those who join, monetary incentives.

"It's got a great support system," Marko says. "The products from Team Beachbody are easy to sell and if you have trouble, there are many people that are willing and ready to help you succeed. If you're looking for a home business opportunity, you definitely want something with a good support system in place and this one has it."

Marko says that virtually anyone can run a successful business with this company but points out that there are things to consider before choosing any business opportunity. He states that knowing how to properly set up an online business is crucial to reaching success.

Through IM Consultant Services, Marko offers a number of marketing services including website design, SEO and various training programs that teach marketers how to effectively reach higher rankings and generate leads. He states that while many people can be successful with an online business, there are basic things to know that will help to reach higher levels of success, no matter what the business is about. Those interested in learning more about the services offered by Marko and his company or the Team Beachbody products can visit them online.
