June 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Samsali Tech, a company that creates electronics, has recently released their brand new wireless bluetooth earbuds on Amazon. As a new product, they are offering it for just $29.95 instead of the usual $89.95. The offer has been picked up by many people, so stocks at this price are already running low.

"We are amazed at just how popular our new product has turned out to be", says Greg Mitchelhill. "Naturally, we stand fully behind the quality of our product, but for it to sell as quickly as what it has was a surprise even for us!"

The bluetooth stereo headset is incredibly lightweight. They have been designed with people who exercise in mind, allowing them to get on with their workout without having the hassle of having wires hanging about. This means they are able to enjoy both their music and their sport at the same time.

Samsali Tech is also very proud of the sound quality that the earphones provide. Indeed, the sound will be crystal clear, meaning people can truly get lost in their music. This is highly beneficial during workouts, as various pieces of scientific research have demonstrated. Indeed, research performed by Brunel University demonstrated that athletes who listened to music during their performance experienced a 15% increase in their overall endurance.

Naturally, higher activity levels mean more sweat. However, Samsali Tech has made sure that they are sweat proof, so that they can be worn throughout the activity, regardless of what it may be. Furthermore, as they have Bluetooth connectivity, they are compatible with almost all electronic music devices.

Those who have purchased the wireless bluetooth earbuds have left numerous positive reviews on Amazon. "Samsali Tec Bluetooth Earbuds are great for anyone on the go, a runner, a walker, a shopper," says Melissa Patton. "In the hustle and bustle life we are constantly connected with the world some way. The music is crystal clear and it also has a voice prompt just by pushing the right hand button. It has a volume control, built in microphone, indicator light and of course a USB charging port."

Samsali Tech believes fully in the quality of their product. This is why their bluetooth sport headphones are backed by a 100% unconditional guarantee. They also pride themselves on their high levels of customer service. While they are listed as wireless, they do actually have one wire. This one is in place to link the two ear buds together and simply fits comfortably around the back of the neck. Presented in a light blue, which color is also used in highlights on the ear buds themselves, these headphones look fashionable and they go with any outfit, whether athletic or casual.
