March 28, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

West Palm Beach, FL insurance agency AC Insurance Services has announced that they now offer discounted rates for home insurance. This is designed to help home owners have their property and personal belongings protected. Uniquely, the agency always ensures liability coverage is included, as this is a critical component.

"We specialize in single family homes, condominiums, and rental properties," says Pete Steiner from AC Insurance Services. "Our goal is to make sure that people can find the insurance that is right for their specific needs, as well as their particular budget, without leaving out any essential components such as liability coverage."

One of the ways in which the insurance agency is able to keep its costs down is because they encourage people to have a Wind Mitigation Inspection done for their property. Interested customers are encouraged to visit their website at <http://myacis.com/homeowners/single-family-homes/> to learn more about this. In so doing, they can significantly reduce their overall policy costs.

Pete Steiner explains: "During a Wind Mitigation Inspection, significant discounts can be provided to the homeowner. This is because this type of inspection checks whether hurricane protection is added to all windows and doors, whether there is a hip roof, whether roof to wall connections are installed with hurricane clips and straps, and whether the roof covering is 100% Florida building code approved. If any of these features are present, then a significant discount will be applied to your homeowners' insurance."

AC Insurance Services also recommends that the Wind Mitigation Inspection be conducted because it makes people more aware of the changes they could make to their property. Making these changes is important not just in terms of lowering insurance rates, but also in giving people the peace of mind that they are much more protected in cases of natural disasters. Hurricane protection is particularly important in Florida, with regular hurricanes each year, which seem to have become more frequent and stronger.

Pete Steiner ends: "It saves you money to find a professional agent, experienced with writing homeowners insurance policies, and their related discounts. That is what we are here for, and why we are now offering discount home insurance."
