North Perch, a digital marketing company with prime focus on Search Engine Optimization(SEO) recently launched its SEO services in Vancouver located in beautiful British Columbia, Canada. North Perch was founded in 2016 by Sam Ahmed, an internet entrepreneur and a digital marketing expert, based on the core belief that online businesses need to build their long-term economic viability on free organic traffic. The trigger for this arose in 2010, courtesy of Sam?s entrepreneurial experiences. The rage of the day saw him witness companies across the spectrum spend valuable marketing dollars on Pay Per Click(PPC) as their primary online customer acquisition method without paying attention to a more feasible and sustainable model dictated by implementing genuine, white-hat SEO. PPC as an advertising model is getting way too expensive by the day as Cost Per Click(CPC) rises much to the dismay of a lot on online businesses without deep pockets to fuel their growth. If such businesses are serious about their survivability, then they perforce have to adopt the SEO model to generate free organic traffic. SEO by its very nature and trend takes time and patience to achieve the desired outcomes. So, the longer businesses wait to take the SEO route, the more vulnerable they become to an online extinction.

North Perch takes a refreshing approach to SEO by applying their proprietary methods while giving their clients absolute transparency each step of the way. North Perch takes pride in the fact that once a client is on-board, it is partnership at its best wrapped around by great customer experience. Achieving Page One ranking is something that North Perch has taken to as a habit, but the belief is that the journey too has to be well-travelled before arriving at the destination.
