Boston Electrician, Mercer Electric Inc offers the Greater Boston Area with a better quality of electrical repair services and better pricing. A fully licensed Master electrician and convenient service provides a better option.

Dorchester MA: Mercer Electric Inc and Jonathan Mercer are pleased to announce that they have reached a milestone of eight years in business. The Boston electrician provides electrical services for building renovations, new building construction, new upgrades to old buildings and other services. The skills of the company helps customers to enjoy a better class of electrician for less. Buildings are made safer, more energy efficient and have a high level of quality.

Jonathan Mercer explained in a recent interview, "With great options in appliance installations, wiring, HVAC, lighting and more, we are the most comprehensive electrical service around. When you try to save money on electrical services, but discover that a second professional is required to correct the mistakes of the first, it actually costs more than paying for our quality services in the beginning. Our expertise and convenient services ensures that the job is done right the first time, every time."

The team can make an existing building fully compliant and compatible with modern appliances, as well as helping with lighting and security systems. The pros can install outdoor lighting to improve safety, as well as interior motion detector lighting. The electricians can help to upgrade the home's lighting to install updated light fixtures, including track lighting systems.

For clients who own or manage commercial space, quality electrical services are available without unaffordable service costs. The electricians will bring the building up to code or upgrade it to be compatible with new appliances, better lighting choices and sign ballasts. Commercial installations can help to keep employees and customers safer the easy way. The team at Mercer Electric can help with restaurants, bars, car dealerships, retail stores or other commercial building which need help.

The Mercer Electric team offers a service area which includes the Greater Boston Area. They are fully licensed and experienced professional for any job, regardless of the size of the project.
