Enzo's Private Selection, a business in Buffalo, NY, is a business that started selling on Amazon some eight months ago. Last month, their Matcha Green Tea product reached a milestone of 200 positive reviews in record time compared to others. The product is being raved about by their customers and their sales are showing it.

"We have always believed in the amazing quality of all our products, including Matcha", says Robert Cruso from Enzo's Private Selection. "So much so, in fact, that I have started using it myself and have lost a grand total of 10 pounds so far. We couldn't be happier to see the huge amount of people who have tried our product and have been happy with it."

Enzo's Private Selection also believes in staying current and innovative. They want to offer their customers something different whenever they can. Hence, they will soon be releasing a new free recipe eBook, Matcha Sweet Concoction, which will describe various interesting and tasty ways to use the green tea. This will also help those people who find green tea too bitter or tasteless to enjoy to still harness its many benefits.

The product is 100% organic and has been designed to boost the metabolism thanks to polyphenol EGCG, which has been scientifically proven to help the body burn fat faster. The product is presented in a resealable zip top bag, so that the tea always remains fresh, even during long term storage.

Green tea is a very powerful antioxidant, as well as being a natural detoxifier. This means it helps to protect the body from cardiovascular diseases and various cancers. Furthermore, it helps the skin to look healthy, vibrant, youthful and beautiful. Matcha in particular is very high in chlorophyll, as an added detox bonus.

The benefits don't stop there. Matcha also helps to increase memory and mood thanks to the high amount of L-theanine, an important amino acid that helps people to relax and focus more. Additionally, it helps to energize the body in a healthy way thanks to the various nutrients and minerals contained in it. Best of all, it tastes great with many saying it is far tastier than conventional green tea.

"I was lucky to come across Enzo's 100% Organic Green Tea Powder (Matcha) because it really was able to provide me with that extra morning kick I have been looking for!", says Simple Savings. "If you are looking for the same thing, you should really check out Enzo's 100% Organic Green Tea Powder (Matcha) for yourself!"

Enzo's Private Selection is committed to the quality of their product. This is why it comes with a 100% money back guarantee as well as pay it forward. This means that for every bag purchased, $1 is donated to the fight against Ebola. Finally, on a two bag purchase, postage and packaging is free.

Enzo's Private Selection

It all started from a young man, named Enzo, needing the extra boost of energy to keep up with his college studies. He traveled the world during his internship and found himself visiting a tea farm. The company was founded there when Enzo tried Matcha.
