March 20, 2017 -

Triton Aquatics offers a different way of implementing healing therapies. The methods include both aquatics and land therapy.

Stafford TX: Triton Aquatics And Land Therapies is pleased to announce that they have a new approach to healing for patients in the area who are in need of physical therapy. The facility offers a healing environment which features the trickling sound of flowing water, a hint of lavender in the air, calming music, warm lighting and a spa robe. The distinctly different care and service in the pool, gym or treatment rooms has a primary purpose of both rehabilitation and therapy.

A spokesperson for the Triton Aquatics And Land Therapies facility explains, "Our equipment is state-of-the-art, our therapists have the highest level of expertise and our scope of services is comprehensive, but what makes Triton the preferred choice for physical therapy treatment is our spa-style atmosphere. When our patients first visit, they may wonder if they are in the right place. The facility doesn't feel like a medical office or therapy gym. Instead, our space is designed to serve our patients in an appealing and comfortable atmosphere.?

The Center offers an inviting entry with a receptionist and an exercise equipment and weight room. The heated therapy pool is a feature which is unique to the therapy center and there are full-service locker rooms with shower and steam facilities. Extended treatment services, including therapeutic massage are coming soon.

The Triton facility includes a complete gym equipped with exercise equipment, weights and specialized therapy tools. The on-site pool facility enables aquatic therapists to incorporate aquatic therapy into rehab plans for patients. These beneficial properties of aquatic therapy, combines with specific therapy practices maximize treatment options and facilitate recovery. Water therapy is uniquely able to reduce pain and swelling. It also builds strength, creates endurance, increases mobility and relaxes patients during the process. Patients being treated for musculoskeletal, neuromuscular, cardiac or orthopedic conditions can benefit.
