Chicken Life Cycle Felt Board Sets By Playtime Felts Makes Their Debut On Amazon

June 11, 2015

June 11, 2015 -
Adela Osmond, spokesperson for the company Playtime Felts, has announced that they have just released their latest product, Chicken Life Cycle, on the Amazon store. They have also released two other products, which are the Ladybug Life Cycle Felt Figures and Apple Life Cycle Felt Set.

Adela said that they are very excited with the release of the Chicken Life Cycle by Playtime Felts and feel that it will be an exciting way to teach little ones about the lifecycle of a chicken. This product comes with 12 felt images that are designed to last, and there is also a Fun Felt Story Script included. The image sizes of the Chicken Lifecycle felts range up to 7.5 inches. She added that while this set is uncut and needs to be trimmed before using it, the high quality Felts are easy to cut out. Kids from the ages of three years old and up will be able to enjoy this product, and it is also great for sequencing. Playtime Felts said the following,

"Educational concepts swirl around children unnoticed everyday. It's our job as parents, teachers and librarians to help children gain a clearer understanding with each concept being taught. Any one of our felt board stories will help children make connections to the real world in a memorable way. Playtime Felts can encourage your little ones to connect meaning to their world simply through fun storyline play."

Adela said that customers who enjoy the Chicken Life Cycle by Playtime Felts will also have a great time with the other two products that they have just added to the store. The Ladybug Life Cycle Felt Board Figures for Learning comes with 11 high-quality felt figures that are also uncut, and they are designed to be used with any type of flannel board or do-it-yourself magnetic flannel board. The Apple Life Cycle Felt Board Figures for Learning is a 14 piece, uncut, set that comes with a fun felt lesson script as well, and can also be used with any type of flannel board or do-it-yourself magnetic flannel board. Like the chicken lifecycle felt set, these two products are also perfect for children that are three years old and up, and all three products are made in the USA.

Playtime Felts stated that they are dedicated to creating high quality fun products that not only entertain children, but provide an excellent educational environment as well. They added that a lot of careful planning went into the design of their play felts, and they feel that customers will get the same amount of enjoyment out of the latest products as they have with every other product they have released on the Amazon store. The company made the following statement,

"Children love listening to stories. They love even more to retell what they know by sequencing their thoughts with pictures. We call this the fun felt, hands-on learning approach. Toddlers, preschoolers and kindergarteners will always enjoy reaching for soft felt figures as long as there are felts to reach for."

For those who would like more information on the latest products by Playtime Felts, or to make a purchase, the company encourages interested parties to visit them on their Amazon storefront.

###

For more information about Playtime Felts, contact the company here:Playtime Feltsinfo@playtimefelts.com

Playtime Felts

Started as a mustard seed concept back in January 2014, Playtime Felts is growing into the most adorable line of felt board story sets available in the USA. We're hands-on creating fun educational teaching aids for parents, teachers, and librarians.

Website: http://www.playtimefelts.com

Email: info@playtimefelts.com