June 16, 2015 -

Florida based company, Dumger, announces that the Running Belt may just be the next best thing in activewear. The belt is worn around the waist, is said to be expandable, comfortable, and made from high quality materials for durability. The product is meant to be worn over clothing, and offers back and abdomen support while running with bounce-free technology, which allows active users to carry their vehicle and house keys, mobile devices, earbuds, wallets, money and more on the go. The company states:

"Carry your iPhone 6+,keys, money & cards in this running waist pack so you always have them with you. Waist Pack straps adjust easily and accommodate waists up to 41.33 inches for optimal comfort. Running Bag accommodates all smart phones & won't block GPS tracking so you won't miss a call."

The product is currently being sold through the company's Amazon.com sales portal for $19.99, and visitors to the site are able to view images of the running belt, as well as learn more about the size, weight, and specifications involved. Due to the sales through Amazon, customers are able to purchase the item with next day shipping, gift wrap availabilities, and check out customer questions and answers regarding use of the bag.

Created using waterproof material, this running fanny pack can be used in any weather, and is suggested by the company to be the perfect alternative to armbands, which normally carry much less during exercise, and don't necessarily work for people of all shapes and sizes. Although the running belt is being promoted for runners, it is also reported to be an excellent traveling companion for those making long journeys on planes or trains, who want to keep passports, cash, and other important items close by.

The Dumger runner waist pack has separate pockets to keep change and electronic devices from scraping and bumping together while running, cycling, or working out at the gym. The materials are also guaranteed not to chafe due to soft fabric and the two adjustable buckles. The company designed the pack to work for both men and women, offering support and a unisex black color for optimal usage in any situation. They have said the following regarding the product and its use:

"The pack accommodates people of all sizes, as it is fully adjustable to accommodate waists of 24" to 36". The comfortable soft elastic belt prevents chaffing, while the sturdy buckle and glides provide stability for the most active users. Weighing less than 3 ounces, this Running Sports Belt is so sleek you might even forget it is there! Bring your music; our pouch has the perfect size to fit your phone without bouncing."

Those who purchase the running belt will also receive a lifetime warranty to guarantee the satisfaction of all Dumger customers, with no hassle, questions or argument. Consumers are invited to contact the company for more info and leave feedback following purchase. All of this can be done through the Amazon.com sales page.
