March 30, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Florence-based home inspection service offers comprehensive home inspection formulas. The customers are assured of interior, exterior, garage and heating, plumbing and electrical inspections.

Florence SC: Accuvview Home Inspections and owner Jim Hudson are pleased to announce that they are able to take care of full inspection needs for homes in the Florence, South Carolina area. The results of a home inspection are only as good as the knowledge and experience of the people who actually do the inspection. A background in the Fire Service and or building construction is helpful in learning the important elements which can contribute to negative results and higher repair or renovation costs.

Home inspection Florence SC professionals are consulted for any of several reasons. Buyers and sellers of properties want a clean inspection report before the deal is completed. Buyers can use poor performance as an indication that price adjustment may be required. In some cases, findings in a home inspection may indicate that the cost of repairs to correct the issues would be too high and the sale may fall through.

For home sellers, arranging for a home inspection before setting a price on the property can show that the buyer won't need to be surprised with unexpected details and costs after the sale is finalized. The seller may elect to correct some or all problems before setting a price and placing the property on the market.

According to the owner of the company, "The depth of my experience includes restoration of historical homes, new residential construction (custom-built), light commercial ground up construction, and interior up fits for restaurants. I work in both Charleston and the Pee Dee Region and my passion for the Fire Service and Construction remain high. Most recently, I found that I enjoy sharing my knowledge of building science with homeowners. Home inspections have allowed me to provide a different but critical service to homeowners. In 2016, Accuvview Home Inspections Ltd was founded to service the Pee Dee Region and Charleston."
