Sanibel Island is described by many as a little piece of paradise. With its beautiful wildlife, rich history, and zero stop signs, it is a favorite place for vacations for people of all walks of life. One of the key things about Sanibel Island, however, is its 15 mile stretch of beaches. A Media Company Sanibel Island Go, based in Sanibel Island, Florida, has announced that they have released a new report highlighting the different beaches on the island. This report can be accessed at Sanibel Island Go website or Sanibel Island Go Fan Page.

Rebecca Paisley from Sanibel Island Go says: "Sanibel Island is famous for its natural beauty beaches and for its reputation of protecting animal and plant wildlife for many different species. It has a very special geography, which is why it is also home to such fabulous beaches. In fact, there are six different public beaches that holiday-makers can enjoy and explore at their leisure. Each beach has its own particular character, so you will always find something new to enjoy."

The six Sanibel Island beaches are the Causeway Beaches, the Lighthouse Beach and Fishing Pier, Tarpon Bay Beach, Bowman's Beach, Blind Pass Beach, and the Gulfside City Park (Algiers). Each of these offers something unique, such as restaurants, places to stay, and things to do. Naturally, each of the beaches is a perfect spot for finding sea shells, something that Sanibel Beach is known for the world over.

"If you are on Sanibel Beach, you must engage in a spot of seashell hunting," adds Rebecca Paisley. "There is even a seashell museum to visit. The beaches are also perfect for kids, particularly once you tell them that famous pirates, including Blackbeard, once lived here, and that there are legends of buried treasure in and along the six different beaches. Who knows, you may even find something."

Sanibel Island Go also launched a competition for people to win a three-day vacation. The winner will be announced on April 29, 2017, at 11 pm CST. Entries to the competition can be submitted at Sanibel Giveaway.
