

Night King Pro Releases Their Highly Anticipated Bicycle Lights To The Public

June 13, 2015

June 13, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Night King Pro, has announced the release of their set of LED bicycle lights on Amazon. Night King Pro said that this is a very exciting time for them, because finally, Amazon customers will be able to get their hands on their highly sought after LED bike light set.

The bicycle lights come with a front and back set, and have the ability to flash as well. Night King Pro stated that their bicycle lights have a stylish machined aircraft grade anodized housing that provides a purposeful look, which also provides the same high performance as any other type of top end bike. Their bright LEDs come in two colors, which are red for the rear and white for the front part of the bike. The company said that the lights are designed with a wide angle of visibility in order to help the rider have better vision of side road traffic as well. The company made the following statement on their website,

"Being water proof/rain proof is a minimum for a quality product. No point spending money on something you have to replace after being caught in the rain once! Many of the cheaper lights out there will die in typical winter weather."

They added that the rain proof design comes with an O-ring sealing. This allows the customer to easily unscrew the housing when they need to replace the batteries.

Night King Pro stated that their black Ano Safety Lamp Set have three modes of operation, which are flashing, constant and off. The LED lights are able to provide 150 hours of life when in flashing mode. The company said that riders will be extremely excited with their latest product, especially those that are looking for an effective way to be seen at night in order to avoid any accidents. They also made the following statement,

"The goal of Night King Pro is to raise the standard of bike lights available at a price affordable to more people. The cheaper lights on the market are typically poor quality, and look it."

Another design feature of the product that received high priority was its overall style. Night King Pro said that they did not just want to create effective lights to help the rider get better vision at night and to make them more noticed in order to prevent accidents, they also wanted their lights to add style to their bicycles. The company said that they are offering a 100% no questions asked money back guarantee if customers are not completely satisfied with their safety lights, because they believe in brand loyalty and feel confident that through their excellent customer service the majority of their customers will be satisfied.

Night King Pro is a company that is run by cyclists. The company said that it is for this reason why they are able to produce the right type of bicycle lights for the customers. For more information on the company's latest product, please visit them on their Amazon storefront.

###

For more information about Night King Pro, contact the company here: Night King Pro
Phillip+8615601706653
contact@nightkingpro.com

Night King Pro

Night King Pro sells simple yet high quality bicycle lights for use on premium bikes

Website: <http://www.nightkingpro.com>

Email: contact@nightkingpro.com

Phone: +8615601706653

Powered by PressAdvantage.com