Hotel Property Management System Cuts IT Network And Hardware Costs

June 16, 2015

June 16, 2015 -
Kevin Hall, Managing Director of the DigitalRez Group of Companies, has announced that their hotel property management system will be able to drastically cut IT network and hardware costs. He added that once clients experience the positive impact that RezExpert can have on their business, they will never look back again.

Kevin Hall said that RezExpert, their hotel reservation & property management system, is hosted in a cloud. He added that this system provides an extremely advanced grid based property management interface that can help clients manage and streamline all of their property and reservation management tasks. When the company designed the grid, they said that it was their goal to make it powerful enough so that a client could have the ability to view their entire operation's activity. Kevin Hall also made the following statement,

"Whether you operate a small hotel, large resort, small inn or unique lodge facility, RezExpert is the answer to your property management and reservation needs.

DigitalRez stated that their RezExpert system is fully compatible and feature-rich. They added that clients will also be pleasantly surprised at how easy it is to learn the cloud-based system, and will appreciate its ability to maintain their entire business in a simple color coded grid interface.

Hall said that they also provide a powerful online reservation module. The module works by downloading reservation requests from a client's website and stores it directly into RezExpert. The company said that this module will help maximize revenue and occupancy of a client's business, 24/7. This is good news for many customers because it will help prevent the loss of clients through busy phone lines. It also prevents a double posting from email requests. The company also made the following statement on their website,

"Credit Card Processing - RezExpert integrates with a number of processors and gateways to facilitate secure PCI compliant transactions minimizing your cost and risk for PCI Compliance."

RezExpert also provides a series of additional modules to help clients enhance their Hotel property management system. They stated that the reason for these modules was to help every business have their own unique needs met. For more details on the types of modules clients have access to, they are encouraged to visit the company's website. Examples of some of the modules that can be found online are the following: metered billing, central management, automated billing, inventory management, membership management, online reservations bookings, map reservations, and many more.

DigitalRez stated that those who are interested in learning more about their hotel property management system are encouraged to visit their website. Here, they will have the option of contacting the company directly by email, filling in a request quote, or be able to sign up for their newsletter. The company can also be contacted directly by telephone, and the number can be found listed at the bottom of their website. The DigitalRez Website also contains a page that is dedicated to listing all of the features from their property management software, RezExpert.
