June 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Paradise Delight Floral & Event Productions, based in Newport Beach, CA, is creating Hawaiian leis made in Orange County, CA. They offer their services to all of the mainland, focusing specifically on Southern California. Their work is luxury in style and they only offer custom build designs for their leis. Their goal is to help people add a special touch to any celebration.

"Our leis are truly luxurious", says Chris Crisologo from Paradise Delight. "They are custom build and perfect for celebrations such as graduations, birthdays or farewell parties to name but a few. We offer a range of different designs and work together with our customers to give them exactly what they are looking for."

The company offers a number of popular fragrance leis. This includes tuberose, pikake, carnation, red and white ginger leis. Additionally, they have a non-fragrance collection, which includes a range of beautiful and vibrant colors, including dendrobium orchid (white, purple and green Christina lei, as well as fancy spiral and butterfly lei), and vanda orchid leis. Finally, they have a range of graduation leis for men, including the cigar flower, to ohai alii, the ti leaf and the fresh kukui nut lei.

Each of the leis is hand crafted and therefore unique. The company has been in business since 2001, during which time they have helped make various occasions truly special. They offer prices for individual leis, but they also offer special bulk buy discounts for those who want to provide leis to multiple guests.

"We encourage people to take a look at our website and the lei gallery to see what we have on offer", adds Chris Crisologo. "We have taken photographs of all our different styles to give customers an idea of what to expect. Yet even these images don't do justice to the tremendous beauty of our individual leis."

Paradise Delight's hand crafted leis ships nationwide. Their lei prices do not include the cost of postage and packaging, however. Furthermore, since they create a range of custom, luxury leis, customers are encouraged to contact the company via email or telephone to place an order and receive an accurate quote.

Essentially, the company wants to help people take the guesswork out of organizing a truly stylish event. Each lei is designed to reflect a client's individual taste and style. Furthermore, the company provides hints and tips to help people avoid the various common pitfalls in an effort to help them save both time and money. They truly are a company with a difference, ensuring they apply best practice policies to offer fantastic service to each of their customers. Their goal is to help their customers get all the little details of their special event right.
