June 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

BridalKare International, a 125 year old company that focuses on wedding dress cleaning and preservation, have released a wedding dress preservation postal service for their customers. The kit, which costs just $147, allows people to send their gown for wedding dress cleaning and preservation. It is hoped that this kit will help more people preserve their wedding dresses or other fabric family heirlooms.

"As a woman owned and operated business I understand how women might feel about getting their wedding dress or their daughter's dress cleaned and preserved", says Bev Zambino from BridalKare International. "It can be scary sending off such an important memory of their special day to a company hundreds of miles away. Knowing we personally care about how their dress is treated and processed can help to alleviate some of those fears. Every month, hundreds of mothers and daughters trust us to clean and preserve their wedding dresses."

The kit has been designed for its ease of use. The BridalKare kit is sent out in a lilac envelope and can be expected to be received within 10 days. People can place their dress in any box that will accommadte it as well as three additional items, which will be cleaned and preserved at no extra cost. The kit comes with a prepaid UPS shipping label that allows for the box to be sent to BridalKare. As soon as it arrives there, the garments will go through their extensive 11 step wedding gown cleaning and preservation process. It is then placed in a beautiful windowed wedding gown preservation box and sent back. The entire process usually takes around three weeks.

BridalKare International has been in business for 125 years. During that time, they have built up a reputation as being the best wedding gown preservation and cleaning company out there. Indeed, the many positive customer testimonials that are left on their website and through the Better Business Bureau are a testament to that.

"When my daughter said she wanted to wear my wedding dress I was a little nervous", says Liz Cowden from Texas. "The dress was 35 years old and it had not been preserved. We pulled it out and though it was in fairly good condition it had yellowed and had a few stains. We priced getting it cleaned in our area and was somewhat taken aback. I stumbled onto your website and was impressed but admittedly a little skeptical that you could clean this dress so economically and quickly. Well, I just want to say a big THANK YOU! The dress came back PERFECT in only a four week turn around! I would gladly recommend your service to anyone."
