Rockville-based Bours & Lucero offers an updated new website, business growth and more attorneys available to serve clients. The practice is expanding into DUI law, traffic law and more.

Rockville MD: Bours & Lucero, LLC, family lawyers in Rockville MD, and Alicia Lucero are pleased to announce that their expanded practice has necessitated the hiring of additional attorneys and the launch of a new website. The practice has grown to include DUI law, traffic law and other areas of specialty in Rockville MD. Bours & Lucero, LLC has represented clients in a wide variety of legal issues for over 40 years. The legal team is proud of their ability to help clients successfully navigate through the entire legal process.

Speaking for the practice, a representative explained, "When faced with marital separation, divorce, custody, bankruptcy, a DUI or other criminal offenses, you need a lawyer who can prepare and guide you through this critical time in your life. If you need information on divorce or simply seeking information from a knowledgeable lawyer, we understand this may be a troubling time in your life. As your Rockville legal team we are here to listen, discuss your goals, and guide you through the legal process in the most painless way possible."

During a time that can be very emotional and challenging, the legal professionals try to create a personal connection with each client to protect their best rights and interests throughout the legal process. They assist in understanding the laws and what they mean to the client in the particular situation.

The additional attorneys being added to the personnel at the firm, as well as the original legal team are skilled negotiators, able to encourage clients to consider negotiation, mediation or collaboration when it is beneficial to them. Some legal problems are resolved more effectively outside the courtroom. At Bours & Lucero, there are superior advocates to stay in close communication with the clients, keeping them informed about the status of the case. Clear explanations of the law are provided for each client.
