Adfilic's Top Rated USB Car Charger Now Available In 4 Additional Colors On Amazon

June 17, 2015

June 17, 2015 -
James Chien, spokesman for the company Adfilic, has announced that they have four additional color variations of their USB car charger available for the customers to buy on Amazon. This is good news for those who would like to complement the colors of their devices, as they are now able to buy a USB car charger in the following colors: white and black, white and blue, white and gold, white and green, white and orange, white and purple, white and red, and white and silver. Another feature that Adfilic is excited about is that all of their USB charges provide power output when charging a device.

The USB car chargers from Adfilic have 3 USB ports, and they have been designed to charge smart phones, tablets and other devices to 100% at a rapid rate. The company states that customers will actually experience the same speed that they get from charging their devices from a wall adapter.

James Chien said that when the company designed the USB car charger, their goal was to allow up to 3 products to charge simultaneously, at the same rapid rate, but without getting in the way while the devices were plugged in. They believe that they have met all of these criteria by creating a USB charger that is compact and sleek in design.

A common problem that people experience with car charges is that they tend to overheat and melt. Adfilic said that their Universal car charger has a built in circuit design that protects the charger from overheating or experiencing any type of over-currents. The circuit design also prevents it from overcharging smart phones and tablets; once the battery of the device is full, the USB charger stops automatically. James added that the USB charger also has a very low profile. This is important, because the plugs can no longer interfere with the shifter in cars that have manual transmissions. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"I am very impressed with the quality and performance of this charger. I intend to exercise my lifetime warranty if needed, and I'm considering buying several more!"

Adfilic said that they fully stand behind their lifetime guarantee because they believe in the high quality craftsmanship of their product. Any person that is not happy with the product will get a no questions asked money back guarantee, and they said this will all occur with world-class customer service. The company stated that their goal is to create high quality products that meet the customers' needs, but that customer satisfaction did not only rely on the product alone. Making sure that they receive their product on time and giving them peace of mind that they are fully covered if they are not happy, is just as important for them.
