

Playtime Gadgets Introduces New All-Weather Photo Websuit Waterproof Iphone Case

June 18, 2015

June 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Daniel Hall, who is the spokesperson for Playtime Gadgets, has announced that they have released their latest product called All-Weather Photo Web Suit. Customers who are interested in buying their latest Waterproof iPhone Case can do so by going to the company's Amazon storefront.

Mr. Hall said that they are very excited with Playtime Gadgets latest product release, and know that customers are going to enjoy many hours of taking stunning photos and videos in, around and underwater. Daniel said that they realized a huge demand for this type of product. According to statistics from Statisticbrain.com, close to 657 million Americans will be going on vacation this summer, and out of those, 62% of them will most likely be on the beach, ocean or at a lake. They added that close to 49% of those vacationers will be swimming or taking part in water sports. Daniel said that if so much time is spent in the water, then it only makes sense that customers would love to take more snapshots of those memories while not worrying about damaging their smartphones.

The company stated that underwater photography is easy to do with the All-Weather Photo Websuit, but to help customers get the most from this activity, the product also comes included with iPhone photography tutorials.

The All-Weather Photo Wetsuit is IPX8 Certified Waterproof, so customers can be completely confident that their iPhone can be fully submerged underwater without any damage occurring. The additional benefits that comes from being 100% waterproof is that people can use their phone to take photos in all weather conditions, as they won't have to worry about the snow, sand or mud finding its way into their smartphones.

When customers buy the All-Weather Photo Websuit, it will come as a full kit that has complete video training on how to use the wetsuit case as well as how to take stunning photos underwater. Daniel said that customers will receive a laminated waterproof quick reference guide as well. Most people will be learning how to use the All-Weather Photo Websuit while in the water, so the guide needs to stay intact regardless of the environment. As an added bonus, customers will also be able to access their underwater photography course online, and for free.

The All-Weather Photo Websuit has been designed to fit most smart phones, and more specifically, the iPhone 5, 6, 5S, 5C, 5, Samsung Galaxy S6 and S6 Edge S5 S4. The company also made the following statement,

"Because of our high quality waterproof case we're able to make our better than money back guarantee and here it is: Try our Playtime Gadgets All-Weather Photo Wetsuit for 60 days. If during that time you don't love the protection the case provides your smartphone or the gorgeous underwater and wet condition photos and video or don't feel it was worth every penny of your investment today, we'll refund you no questions asked and you can keep our online training as our gift to you just for trying us out."

For more information on the All-Weather Photo Websuit, Playtime Gadgets invites all interested parties to go directly to their Amazon storefront. Here, customers will be able to get full details on the product.
