

Latest Editions Of Campfire Travel E Magazine Now Available

April 20, 2017

April 20, 2017 -
Wilmington, Delaware based Chedall LLC has announced the release of their April edition of Campfire Travel and the brand new Campfire Travel E-Magazine for Dog Owners. The magazine offers entertaining articles and news for RV and camping enthusiasts and focuses on various states across North America each month.

The company states that in every edition of their online magazine, they showcase a particular RV resort or campground that they feel will be entertaining for their readers. Their monthly editions also include $1,000 worth of vacations and prizes that subscribers can win. All competitions are free to enter and the competitions vary in type and style.

David Hall, a spokesperson for the magazine, says, "We're pleased to bring out our latest monthly edition and to introduce Campfire Travel for Dog Owners, which we hope will help canine lovers to find a suitable and exciting campground to visit with their pets."

The company also has an app in the works that will be available for iPad and Android tablets and will allow campers to read through their magazine content and win prizes. "Our app will have games for both adults and children that will keep them highly entertained during their camping adventure," says Hall. "We have included a resort and campground finder to make it easy for them to find and reserve their next camping location, and overall, we just have something for everyone."

Hall says that the newest edition is now available for readers to enjoy and states that it includes information on a number of resorts and campgrounds located around the United States. The new dog owner e-magazine is also live and the company says that it offers tips for traveling with pets in addition to listings of campgrounds that are pet friendly. The online magazine offers a free member's area where subscribers can integrate their social media accounts and interact with other campers.

Those interested can visit the magazine on their official site to see the latest editions or sign up here to be kept informed of new editions as they come out as well as various other events.
