

Limited Release Of Resilient Beauty's New Lip Plumper Made Available

June 16, 2015

June 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Christine Protus, who is the spokesperson for Resilient Beauty, has announced that they have just released their new line of lip plumpers on Amazon. She added that their latest product, Resilient Lips, offers one of the best formulas on the market, and once customers get their hands on it, will realize how well the lip plumper works. Resilient Lips comes in sheer, as well as other tinted varieties, which are pink, rose and peach.

The company said that those who are looking for full, vibrant and younger looking lips, but don't want to go close to any needles or take part in expensive surgery, will find Resilient Lips to be an excellent alternative. The way in which the product works is by stimulating collagen production in the connective tissues on the lips. In doing so, it is able to moisturize the lips and make them plumper.

Resilient Beauty stated that they are using a very powerful formula to achieve these results. For example, Resilient Lips uses a patented tripeptide, which helps to hydrate, plump, volumize and smooth fine surface lines on the lips. It also helps to improve lip contours. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"This is the best lip plumper I've found. I think there may be some individual response to these kinds of glosses. I've tried other (much more expensive) lip plumping glosses that received great reviews but, alas, had no effect on me whatsoever. So, for what it's worth, I'm giving five stars to this product because it has a nice, consistent, visually obvious effect for me every time I use it."

Resilient Beauty said that, according to a clinical study where women applied the patented peptide 3 times daily for 29 days, they were able to increase their lip volume by 40%, lip hydration was improved by 60%, lip softness was increased by 70%, surface folds and creases had a 29% reduction and there was a 100% improvement in overall lip condition. Another customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"Best lip plumper. I can't live without this stuff. It really works and replaces lipstick all together. The sheer is my favorite. It seems a bit lighter and doesn't leave that lips scum line around the inside of your lips that the pink one can. But I love the pink color!"

Christine Protus stated that customers will be buying a Lip Plumper that really works. She added that, for a limited time, those who buy more than one lip plumper, or combine this purchase with any other Resilient Beauty Products, will get an extra 15% discount off their entire order. Customers simply need to enter the coupon code: RBSAVE15 at checkout. Click here for more information.

For those who would like more details on Resilient Lips from Resilient Beauty, the company encourages all to go to their Amazon storefront. Here, customers will be able to find a full description on all the features of their latest product. Interested parties will also be able to read over 70 reviews that have been written by current customers.
