April 12, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Donna Kozik's new publication, ?Book Your Cruise: Write Your Book,? shows want-to-be authors how to write a book while cruising the high seas. In the second part of the book, Kozik focuses on the actual aspects of writing while on a cruise.

?Writing while on a cruise may sound like work to some people, but for want-to-be authors it can be fun and productive,? said Kozik. ?There are hours and hours to relax and write a book while being taken care of by the ship?s staff.?

She says it?s all about preparation and mindset to write while on board a ship. To help get properly prepared to write while on a cruise, Kozik suggest an aspiring author:

* Pack the proper writing tools. This includes a laptop, favorite pen and notebook.

* Visualize oneself in action. In other words, focused on writing while on board.

* Let any cruising mates know what's the goal is so they can support one's writing efforts.

?Book Your Cruise, Write Your Book? is available on Amazon.com.

Kozik is a long-time book coach who shows people how to get books done fast and easy with her own programs and publications. Kozik is the creator and leader of the original ?Write a Book in a Weekend.? Want-to-be authors can pick up a free book planner from Kozik at FreeBookPlanner.com.
