PrimeEffects, a consumer products company that focuses on specialty products in the fields of health and safety, announced that the concentrate formula for their organic bug repellent mixes at a rate of one ounce per gallon at the recommended strength. The all-natural bug repellent, known as Mosquito Magician, is an organic blend of natural oils that act to repel most lawn and garden pests.

According to Mr. Jepsen, CEO of PrimeEffects, the concentrate can be mixed at higher or lower rates to achieve a stronger solution as desired. "From the start we decided to formulate this as a concentrate to help with storage -- you're storing a pint or a quart, not the full amount. But, more than that, having the repellent in concentrate form allows you to call the shots on how strong you want it to be. At the recommended dose you can mix one ounce with a gallon of water. You can also dilute it more for a more gentle effect. Or, if you really want to go strong, you can mix less and create the most powerful effect possible."

Natural oils are responsible for the bug repelling effect of the Mosquito Magician Concentrate. These include geraniol, cedarwood, lemongrass, rosemary, garlic and citronella. This blend acts to repel most major lawn and garden pests, including its namesake, mosquitoes, along with fleas, ticks, flies, gnats, moths, fire ants, and even spiders and palmetto bugs. The formula is non toxic and safe to be used around children and pets.

Says Mr. Jepsen, "Keep your patio, lawn or garden pest free by spraying once or twice a week. One bottle of our Mosquito Magician can mix up dozens of applications."

Mosquito Magician by PrimeEffects can be applied with most sprayers. Its special formulation ensures that it does not wash off easily and stays on plants and surfaces for up to two weeks. One ounce of concentrate mixes to form one gallon of final solution at the recommended strength. Mosquito Magician can be purchased via Amazon.
