D.W. who is the spokesperson for the Swedish contemporary artist Mimmie Dana, has announced that the contemporary painter, photographer and poet launched her new website. Here, Mimmie Dana (https://www.facebook.com/mimmiedanaart) will be hosting a gallery of her art for her fans' and publics' viewing pleasure. D.W. added that Mimmie is very excited with the website launch because finally the public has easy access to view her art and to connect with the artist. Mimmie Dana wrote the following statement on her website,

"My creative reality starts when I wake up between the hours of three and five in the morning. I usually go back to sleep but during that woken time I go through new ideas and shattering truths are often revealed which later can be both magical, surreal and dramatic depending on the mood it aroused. I like to throw myself from sleeps lingering dreams, drag it into my waking life and maintain the unstructured film that was played and remains in fragmented phrases, images, thoughts and feelings. "

The contemporary artist's website has created various categories, which are digital art, paintings and photography. The site also has a dedicated blog, contact page and about page so that readers can find out more about her. Within each of those categories, her fans and new visitors will be able to find subcategories that more accurately display her art. For example, in the paintings category, viewers will be able to browse through her works of colorful acrylics, colorful oils, earthy oils, light acrylics, light oils, pastels and watercolors. In her section of photography, her readers can view her conceptual works and nature and landscapes. Mimmie Dana also made the following statement on her site at http://mimmiedana.com/,

"In my work you will see the result of a collaboration between the mind the the unconscious, I work from the structures of the unconscious and let the mind cooperate to reach the desired outcome. What I strive for is to find a universal force to portray from my perspective where it is inviting and easy for the viewer to have their own unique experience and perception of the piece and with that become co-creators. One artwork is multiplied with the number of people watching it and to me that's a true gift."

By creating this website, this vision becomes easier to achieve, because the world is so much smaller online. She wishes to maybe even inspire others to focus on doing the things they love and share it as well. For more information on Mimmie Dana, visitors are encouraged to visit her website. Here, readers will be able to gain more insight on the contemporary artist by reading her About page, and if they have any further questions regarding her art, they are encouraged to contact her by email.
