Badass Beards a Beavertown, OR company just released a 1 oz gift edition of their classic blend beard oil. Since launching its trademark product, Badass Beards has offered its Classic Blend Beard oil in a 2 ounce bottle. With a 50% price decrease, and their sales of the product have seen an upward trend due to this.

The use of beard grooming products is becoming more common as growing beards is making a redux in various fashion spheres. These products are designed to improve the aesthetics and health of beards while making it easier to manage and groom. The Beard Oil Conditioner by Badass Beards contains an array of natural oils and extracts making it safe and gentle on the skin and the beard. In addition to this, the manufacturing quality is assured by it being produced locally in the U.S. Badass Beards also offer a generous 90 day money back guarantee to ensure customer satisfaction. This, combined with the recent promotional price for the gift edition, makes for a lucrative personal luxury or present.

The main aspect that sets Badass Beards' conditioning oil apart from other beard grooming products, is the type of oils that are used in the conditioner. The company has clinched the perfect concoction of ingredients that not only does the job of a conditioner for the beard and skin, but produces a characteristic rustic scent. The scent is sourced from certain oils in the mixture like citrus oils and sandalwood oil. These oils combine to form a distinctively rustic and masculine scent that does not overpower the senses. The remaining oils are to nourish the beard and skin while protecting them from the elements as well. These include Argan oil, known for its hair strengthening properties with vitamin E and the lighter grape seed oil, known for its absorptive properties. These oils improve the condition of the skin to reduce itchiness and dandruff, as well as soften the beard to make it more manageable. The resulting effect is a soft beard that appears well groomed and has a slight woody scent.

Customers that have purchased the Badass Beards' Classic Blend oil gift edition are reportedly pleasantly surprised upon receiving their product. Feedback from its customers score a commendable rating of 4.6 stars out of 5. On one hand, some users were especially taken with the packaging, saying they appreciate the premium feel of the bamboo casing of the bottle, while another admires the sharp and well designed cover. Other customers focused more on the product itself commenting on the appealing scent and feel of the oil after use. The premium feel of the gift edition is likely to continue as customers take advantage of the price drop.
