Los Angeles-based Red Card SEO offers free one-on-one consultations, as well as comprehensive competition analysis. New clients are once again being accepted, after a period of no new client bookings being accepted.

Los Angeles, CA: Red Card SEO is pleased to announce that after not accepting new clients for a period of time, due to being completely booked, the company is now accepting new clients. The professionals are also offering a free one-on-one consultation and SEO competition analysis to qualified businesses. With more than eighteen years of experience in the industry, Red Card SEO can help clients dominate their competition on Google.

The skills and experience necessary to be ranked as the best SEO company in the area are well represented at the LA firm. Their goal is to increase the revenue of their clients. They approach the goal by providing top rankings for the client's website on major search engines. Highly effective search engine optimization is the key element in ranking at the top of the search engine results pages (SERP).

Doug Smith recently explained to an interviewer, "Our goal is to consistently over-deliver on all fronts. When we accept a new client, we are committing to not only increasing their search engine rankings, but also to provide actionable metrics and insight on how they can capitalize on all of the new traffic that their increased website rankings are bringing in. Our team is comprised of industry veterans who have a passion for SEO and internet marketing. By innovating new methods, our team has found great success where others have failed."

"We do not take on every client that approaches us," he continues. We only accept a limited number of clientele at any given time to keep our services at the most effective level possible. Our professionally managed SEO includes cutting-edge strategies that will produce solid results. At Red Card SEO, we utilize white hat methodology that produce revenue generating powerhouses. We carefully select the clients that we work with. This ensures that our client projects receive optimal attention and care."
