

The Best Beard Conditioner On The Market By Gents-n-Valor Kicks Summer Into High Gear With Its Summer Promotional Price

June 16, 2015

June 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Available exclusively on Amazon, A Man's Nature Beard and Moustache oil has just offered a special summer price on what is arguably the best beard conditioner available. The 20% discount seasonal promotion by Gents-N-Valor for customers makes this product even more competitive when it comes to facial hair grooming products.

As beards make a steady comeback into both mainstream and fringe fashion after an absence of several decades, the advent of facial hair care products has also made an appearance. Products such as beard and moustache combs, facial hair styling gels and the essential; beard conditioners, can be found in increasing number of stores both online and in retail. While these conditioning oils are meant for protecting and nourishing facial hair and skin, there are few that cover the entire range of harmful environmental effects. The few products that do provide comprehensive protection also come with premium prices, however, more than often they contain chemicals that might prove to be irritating or harsh for sensitive skin. Gents-N-Valor has approached the issue of comprehensive beard and skin protection by looking to nature for specific ingredients that have been proven to address each aspect of facial hair maintenance. An assortment of natural oils and organic extracts which are rich in vitamins and minerals, enables A Man's Nature beard conditioner to compete head-to-head with other premium products at a now even lower price tag.

Made from a precisely constructed concoction of 9 oils among other natural ingredients, A Man's Nature beard oil covers a range of protection and nourishments for facial hair. More info on the exact ingredients can be found on their webpage. The protection provided is especially necessary during summer when harmful ultraviolet rays, dry air and warm weather deplete the skin and hair of essential nutrients. As a result, the skin under the beard develops dandruff and begins to itch. The beard itself turns wiry, scraggly and coarse ending up looking untidy and patchy.

Various customers have expressed their satisfaction online, giving it an average rating of 4.9 stars out of 5. Describing the product as nourishing to the beard and making it soft and compliant to styling, they have placed it in high regard when it came to product quality. Most customers have also reported the scent of the conditioner oil to be soothing and refreshing, while at the same time not being harsh and lingering. The spray applicator is an additional innovation that has not been overlooked by the customers who have contrasted it with the inconvenient dropper applicators of other beard oils. As a result, A Man's Nature beard oil conditioner makes an attractive all-in-one product for anyone who is looking to update their fashion statement.

###

For more information about A Man's Nature, contact the company here: A Man's Nature Victor Wyn8664174242info@amansnature.com1086 Outback Rd

A Man's Nature

A Man's Nature is a brand under a small company called Level Rayz LLC. They are Located in the N. Georgia Mountains. The Company prides itself on All-Natural ingredients for all their Beard Products made here in the good old USA.

Website: <http://amansnature.com>

Email: info@amansnature.com

Phone: 8664174242

