More and more people travel, as it has become more affordable and convenient. As a result of this, there has been an increase in demand for compression socks, particularly for longer flights and for people who are taller than average and therefore struggle with standard flight seats. Wanderlust, a company in Burlingame, CA, has recently released a new line of travel compression socks, and they have quickly become bestselling items on Amazon.

A member of Team Wanderlust says: "Our compression socks have been designed to be highly effective, as well as multifunctional. They can, naturally, be used during travel, but many of our clients wear them to fight edema during pregnancy, because they spend a lot of time on their feet, or even while they sleep to improve circulation and blood flow. We're very happy to see that the socks are already so popular."

One of unique things about the Wanderlust compression socks is that they have been developed by scientists in order to ensure the appropriate amount of compression is delivered, thereby providing therapeutic relief from pain and swelling. They offer True Medical Grade Graduated Compression, meaning 25-30 mmHG at the foot and ankle, 15-20 mmHG at the middle of the leg and calf, and 10-15 mmHG under the knee. Those are the amounts of pressure that are ideal for providing sufficient support, while allowing the user to easily get the socks on or off without ever feeling too tight.

"I wore them for a whole day to a family birthday party at a park. They were not as tight as I thought they would be and were a snug fit with the gradient compression. Throughout the whole day my legs felt all types of comfort and warmth and at the end of the night they still felt fresh, no fatigue...," says one Amazon customer.

Unsurprisingly, the compression stockings have already received a wealth of positive reviews, with people hailing their comfort, durability, and effectiveness. In fact, after over 1,000 positive reviews, the item is rated as a 4.5 star item on the Amazon marketplace.

Wanderlust provides a 100% 'love at first sight' guarantee on all its products.
